Clem, Lowen, Ward, Nancy and Mother - Freda taken on the porch at Malvern. Nancy tell a story about this photo. "My mother was a great friend of Damien Parer's mother and they used to play cards together. Damien at the time was a budding photographer, so mother asked if Damien could take the photograph of the family. He came out to the house in Malvern at the time and line us up on the verandah as you can see. We sitting there and I'm twiddling my thumbs while Damien got everything ready and he took the photo. But when we saw the photo, mother would not order anymore as there was twiddling my thumbs, and the great Damien Parer was the author of that picture. He became very, very famous later, but he was only about 18 at the time."
